MORE attention should be given to keeping up a safe crossing at the new bridge over Limestone Creek. As it is it is very dangerous for persons to attempt to go over the narrow and rickety planks provided for the purpose. If something is not done to provide greater security somebody may be killed or badly hurt. Who is responsible for this negligence?

THE Buffalo Bill troupe had a crowded house last night and many persons were turned away at the door. The play was of the dime novel order, with the usual amount of blood shed, hair breadth escapes, and harrowing situations. The Indians in their dances, Buffalo Bill's wonderful shooting, and Jule Keen's dutch impersonations were the most interesting features of the entertainment.

SLAYBACK'S PISTOL.

The Point of Dispute in the St. Louis Tragedy.

St. Louis, October 16—Noon—The interest in the Cockerill-Slayback tragedy continues unabated. The greatest possible interest attaches to the question of Slayback's pistol, which is involved in extraordinary mystery. Slayback's friends emphatically deny his having a pistol, basing such belief on Clopton's sworn testimony, and charge that the pistol which McGuffin said he wrenched from Slayback's hand was falsely hoisted into the case by Cockerill's friends.

On the other hand Cockerill's friends stand by the statement of McGuffin, Cole and Cockerill, that Slayback had a pistol, and will try to show that on the way to the Post-Dispatch office Clopton loaned Slayback his pistol, and the defense will make an effort to prove that the pistol was Clopton's. Another mystery is in regard to the direction of the ball.

The testimony at the post-mortem decided on the point that when the shot was fired Slayback must have been with his left side turned to Cockerill, as would be the case if the latter shot, as Clopton says he did, just as Slayback had fairly entered the room and while the latter was in the act of removing his coat.

It is impossible to describe the bitterness with which these points were discussed, and it would not be surprising if more shooting resulted from the intense excitement which is being fed on the idea that the case is being manipulated through perjury on one side or the other.

State of Lewis at Large.

Your Correspondent who has been taking in the Eastern portion of Lewis county during the past week, on the trip, called on the afflicted family of Andrew Glenn, who was killed last week under distressing circumstances. Glenn, is a pensioner forty years old, receiving $75 per month, for blindness, contracted in the army. He spent his money in advance too freely. A sewing machine agent and Glenn were trading pistols and had removed the chamber of one. His son William sixteen years old, took up the chamber to replace it in the stock and in some way the hammer fell and sent a ball through his father's body causing his death the following day. The boy is overwhelmed with grief and has to be watched for fear he will destroy himself. Mr. Glenn leaves a wife and five children with no available show for support. Much sympathy is manifested for this family especially the distressed boy.

In this same neighborhood, Wm. Bevis struck James Nichols with a club and laid him out for dead. At last accounts Nichols was recovering sufficiently to recognize his friends. Both are young men.

The apple crop is proclaimed to be a failure. We spent a delightful evening with the family of Captain Frank Branham and saw the crop of seventy trees of the Roman Beauty variety, many of them measuring twelve inches in circumference and he sold them at one dollar per barrel in the orchard.

Wm. Agnew comes up to the standard in choice apples.

Captain Branham, has the cashmere goat on his large farm and has the fleece spun into yarn. His children are wearing the same in soft silken socks that out wear anything of the wool line. His next enterprise is to build a railway from the river to his stone and fire clay banks one mile, when he will be able to furnish a superior quality and quantity of stone at greatly reduced rates. Captain Thomas B. Hooble has the management of this industry.

We spent a day with the famous hermit Shaw with our better half and took in his acres of flowers—women are forbidden to enter the secluded premises, except on special invitation then the house is closed. But on this occasion every lot and corner was open and explained. He has furniture relics a hundred and fifty years old with interesting history. Mr. Shaw is a bachelor, intelligent, learned and a student of nature. Why he secude himself and lives in solitude is a matter of choice for he has a surplus of wealth and is liberal with those he likes. He now fancies my better half resembles his mother as he has her portrait, he called attention to it with all the simplicity of a child, then points to his marble tomb near by surmounted with a cross, yet, he wishes to be buried with his own mother in distant lands. On our departure Mr. Shaw had taken his choicest flowers, grasses, vines, and ripe figs, century plants, imported roses and fruits to our buggy and gracefully presented them to us as we left him with reluctance to enjoy his solitude with birds, bats, dogs and tows of every sort. When we told him Ohio had gone democratic he clapped his hands for joy for he is original Jackson Democrat, and bade us return with more democratic news.

The Meaning of It.

N. Y. Sun.

Would you know the meaning of the political revolution which struck its first blow in Ohio three days ago, and will sweep through Pennsylvania and New York three weeks from next Tuesday?

It means these four things:
I. Reduce the expense of every branch of the Federal government to a basis of simplicity, economy and honesty!

II. Abolish the internal revenue abomination!

III. Make the tariff simple and rational, and just sufficient to provide for the wants of an honest and economical Administration in time of peace!

IV. No stealing, either by the Administration and its agents, or by congress and its employees!

This is the meaning and the purpose of this mighty overturn.

Is the Democracy wise enough and high minded enough to execute this preeminent mandate with fidelity and courage? We shall see. The occasion is great. And we are happy to add, the future is hopeful.

The transformation of dismal old burial grounds into charming gardens, full of fine shrubs and bright flowers, is extended all over England.

What is Coming.

From the Philadelphia Times.

Ohio simply starts the tide of Republican defeat that will sweep over Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and Indiana, and Illinois may be greatly bent if not broken in the storm. The lesson of Ohio is the lesson of Republican disintegration.

From the Albany Evening Journal.

The machine is to be smashed.

Jim Malone, a noted race horse in the years 1880 and 1881, who beat such good ones as General Phillips, Bucktie, Aurora's Baby, and the great Himyar, was the property of Frank James, the outlaw, who has just surrendered himself to the State of Missouri, James owned several race horses that used to be entered in other men's names, but James followed them about and backed them successfully.

When the King of the Netherlands went to London for his sister-in-law's marriage with the Duke of Albany, the corporation voted him the freedom of the city in a gold box, but the death of another sister of his wife's prevented the presentation. For a while the corporation could not decide what to do about it, but ultimately the Lord Mayor and sheriff went, for the first time probably in history, to the Hague, presented their box, and dined at the palace.
